Editorial LIMA 2000 S.A.C. was founded in 1980, with the objective of producing, publishing and distributing urban cartography of Metropolitan Lima and other cities of Peru, as well as tourist and travel maps of the country. Since then, LIMA 2000 maintains its leading position in this field, offering complete and updated information to the public. For this purpose, during the last years LIMA 2000 has implemented GIS (Geographical Information System) technology, and is now able not only to publish at any time maps including the latest updates, but also to produce cartographic material tailored to specific requirements and with particular information of any customer.

This map is quite small, more like a tourist brochure, so it is way overpriced for what it has to offer. It is advertised as 1:50,000 scale, but that is correct only for the Inca Trail side of the map. This map is OK, it has reasonable amount of details. The other side of the map is the Sacred Valley, and here I do not see anything written about the scale, but comparing it to another map of the area it is approximately 1:400,000 and its size is just 13x20 inches.

A well-detailed topographical map of the Inca Trail on one side and a map of the Cuzco region on the other. Small & lightweight, the perfect pocket map for a hiking trip.
