Lee Strobel was the award-winning legal editor of The Chicago Tribune and is the bestselling author of The Case for Christ, The Case for Faith, The Case for a Creator, and The Case for Grace. With a journalism degree from the University of Missouri and a Master of Studies in Law degree from Yale, Lee has won four Gold Medallions for publishing excellence and coauthored the Christian Book of the Year. He serves as Professor of Christian Thought at Houston Baptist University. Visit Lee's website at: leestrobel.com Rob Suggs has been involved in three successful children's Bibles as writer, illustrator, or both. He and his wife, Gayle, have two children and live in Atlanta, Georgia. Robert Elmer lives in the Seattle area with his wife and their little white dog, Farragut, who is named for the famous admiral. He is the author of over fifty books, most of them for younger readers (but some for grown-ups, as well). He enjoys sailing in the San Juan Islands, exploring the Pacific Northwest with his wife, and spending time with their three kids "along with a growing number of little grandkids.

Great book for pre-teens that seem to be challenging faith, God &/or religion. My pre-teen still has questions, but he seems to have a lot less and is more open to my new found religious beliefs.

We have all of these book and we love them all. Good, thought provoking questions and answers to help my teen navigate the tough waters of being a Christian in today's world. Highly recommend.

Simple and good input might be a little too simple for 11th graders; I guess it depends on the age of the child.

Language is kid-friendly and good for bible study. Great apologetics starting point even for older students.

Religious education instructors at our parish are reviewing it.

I bought these for a group of kids I was discipling as a gift. They were so excited and ate up the book. My own two daughters got the same book and read it all the time until they were done. It is a great book with a ton of answers that even baby Christian adults might have. Someone could take this book and use two questions a week and use it in Sunday school class as well. Really great!!!
