Customer Reviews

Lovely designs, lovely stitching, good projects from cushions, notebook cover, pegbag, scissor holder to table runner, nothing too imaginative but all done to a good standard with pleasant motifs. One thing to remember is that wool comes in many colours and you can dye your own because the first thing that strikes me about this book is that it is brown. Rebekah has chosen a limited, muted palette. On the back cover two cushions are shown, one dull green with a brown squirrel, the other orange with a brown bird. Just think what a happier guy that squirrel would have been if he were rusty orange. All the projects can be seen at the beginning of the book, and there's that overall brown-ness. As we are going through the seasons, you might imagine a palette of colour to match the seasons but that only seems to be evoked by a touch of orange in autumn. I like the pegbag, my mother used to have one, and if you adjust the pattern slightly, it could be any sort of bag you want. Some of the photos are a tad on the dark side. Each of the 12 projects is shown with details, introduced with a paragraph or two, and contain instructions to make the projects. There is a short guide to preparing wool and embroidery stitches at the back of the book. Included are 2 pages of pattern templates, these are double sided. I love the birds. (yarnsandfabrics.co.uk, 6/19/2017)

Good patterns and instructions for each piece

Liked first book better but a lovely project book.

Great book on wool applique. Have her first book Just wish she would write more

I really like Rebekah Smith's books. I have two and have made quite a few of the projects. Easy to follow her instructions and I love the patterns. Very pleased and will most likely get more books of hers.

Not much I like in patterns.

Love this book!

Fun and beautiful patterns. Directions could be more thorough with more details.

Yes, I love it and the photographs are lovely and the projects.
